

My Personal Board of Directors

Your year of service is going to be an amazing experience with ups and downs. Understanding who you have in your life as supports as you navigate your year of service is an important way to manage your personal cycle of service.

Connector

Who is someone you know who can connect you to other people you want to know?

Critic

Who challenges you and provides you with constructive criticism?

Shoulder

Who listens to you and lets you vent to them or cry on their shoulder when you are having a challenging day?

Cheerleader

Who will be supportive of you and give you encouragement no matter what?

Guide

Who helps you look after your mental, physical or spiritual well being?

Mentor

Who do you trust and respect to lead you in the right direction?
